The Fairline Squadron 58 is one of Fairline Yachts most successful models and is known for its timeless design and solid building quality. This particular example features a traceable ownership history and has been thoroughly modernized in recent years, leaving the yacht in a very well-maintained and ready-to-sail condition.

The layout is characterized by a one level transition from the cockpit to the saloon, creating a spacious and comfortable feeling on board. The saloon, helm station, and galley are open connected with each other, contributing to a pleasant living space and ample opportunities for social interaction during your stay on board.

Several significant upgrades have been carried out over the past two years. For instance, all interior and exterior cushions have been renewed, as have the mattresses in all cabins (2024). Additionally, the washer and dishwasher have been replaced and the complete Raymarine navigation equipment has been updated. The galley has also been modernized with new appliances, including a hob, microwave, refrigerators, and freezer. The saloon and master bedroom are equipped with new televisions. Unique to this vessel is that all wall and ceiling coverings in all cabins, the lazarette/utility room, and wardrobes have been redone, completely resolving the well-known problem of loose panels. Furthermore, in 2025, the dashboard on the flybridge was renewed and fitted with high-quality carbon panels, creating a modern and exclusive appearance. The starboard guest cabin (SB guestroom) is currently also being reupholstered and is expected to be completed in the first half of April 2026.

This yacht is fully equipped and features an integrated cockpit bench with removable cushions and access to the crew cabin, a full cockpit tent, a gangway that also functions as a dinghy lift, and a spacious bathing platform with dinghy supports. On the starboard side, there is a practical side door at the interior helm station. The flybridge is accessible via stairs from the open cockpit and also from the inside via the salon. Furthermore, the yacht features LED lighting throughout the vessel, atmospheric blue exterior lighting, original Fairline inventory (cutlery and glasses), air conditioning per room (both cooling and heating), mooring winches on the aft deck, a practical lazarette/utility room midships, a bimini with a full cover for the flybridge, and comfortable sun loungers on the foredeck.

Additionally, the yacht is equipped with trim tabs, a beautiful stainless steel semi-circular sliding door to the saloon, fender storage in the cockpit, and AIS, visible via the plotter screen.

This Fairline Squadron 58 is currently available for viewing by appointment in the Almería region (Spain).

For questions and/or to make an appointment, you are most welcome at Elburg Yachting 7 days a week.
